AD Pi's Make $5,000 Centennial Gift To Wesleyan for Conservatory Library

Alpha Delta Pi's Centennial Gift to Wesleyan was a check for $5,000, presented during the Centennial convention of the organization held at Wesleyan in June.

A handsome book in which are inscribed the signatures of all members who contributed to the gift was given to the college. The foreword states:

"In recognition of its One Hundredth anniversary of Founding, on May 15, 1851, Alpha Delta Pi presents to Wesleyan College . . . its birthplace . . . five thousand dollars for books, manuscripts, and other art materials for the Wesleyan Fine Arts Library."

THE WESLEYAN ALUMNAE

COMMENCEMENT IN 1951

Alumnae activities began this year on Friday afternoon, June 2 with an "Autographing Tea" given in the book department of Davison's for two author-alumnae (Rebecca (Caudill) Ayars, '20, and Sara Jenkins, '26), whose latest books were published this spring.

The youngest group of Macon alumnae, headed by Mamie (Griffin) Denson, most efficiently handled all details of the tea, and alumnae and friends of the honor guests came by to greet the two and to buy their books and enjoy a glass of punch.

At 6:00 P.M. reunioners, officers and trustees of the Alumnae Association, and club representatives gathered at the conservatory dining room for the annual dinner honoring reunion classes.

After dinner everybody went to the lovely new room which is being made ready for the conservatory library for a meeting presided over by Florence (Trimble) Jones, president.

They heard reports of officers, and accounts of alumnae club doings during the past year, and then, as the "piece de resistance" a delightfully informal talk by Sara Jenkins, whose latest novel, "The Brand-New Parson" was published by the Thomas Y. Crowell Company. It was not an "address," for Sara just told us, in her inimitably humorous and confidential way, about herself and her ventures into writing, and even, quite frankly, her coming venture into matrimony which is to take place sometime during the summer. She presented "the author" entirely without any glamorous trappings, just her eager, enthusiastic self putting down a sentence here or there in crowded busses or restaurants, in between teaching high school students English, and then rewriting and rewriting, as Miss M. Virginia Garner used to tell her journalism students they must, and cutting and discarding and rearranging to suit her publisher.

She shared the story of her romance and coming marriage to a building contractor of Miami with her college friends in the same happy way. It was a wonderful evening in which alumnae of all ages felt closely akin to one another.

The Alumnae Day Meeting

The next day at eleven o'clock sharp the bell in the conservatory tower began to toll for the one hundred and thirteenth commencement, and the class of '51 with their candlelighters marched into the chapel.

After the invocation by Mary Culler White, Florence (Trimble) Jones gave the traditional "Benson Charge," and the graduates of college and conservatory formally accepted membership in the Association.

Annie (Gantt) Anderson had charge of a memorial service for the alumnae who have died since last commencement, reading the name of each. A beautiful bowl of flowers, arranged by Adele Conner, was on the chapel stage in memory of these alumnae.

Claire Michaels, junior, played a violin solo, accompanied by Artemisia Dennis. Both girls are holders of Marion Luse Chenery Scholarships in music, given by this alumna.

Reunion classes were presented, and Margaret (Hall) Hazard of the Golden Anniversary class, made for her class a gift to Wesleyan of a silver mint dish in memory of Mrs. Maria M. Burks, beloved former teacher.

Alice (Burden) Domingos, retiring alumnae trustee, introduced the candidate for Alumnae Trustee to succeed her, Grace (Laramore) Hightower, who was unanimously elected.

Dorothy (Blount) Lamar introduced to the alumnae Helena E. (Ogden) Campbell of New York, through whose tireless efforts during the past seventeen years 124 paintings and pieces of sculpture have been sent to Wesleyan, all the gifts of the artists themselves. This was her first visit to Wesleyan since she began the collection, and the alumnae delighted in having the opportunity to express in person their appreciation.

Head Table at the Dinner on Friday Night

Elinor Smith for the liberal arts seniors and Virginia Smith for the Conservatory seniors presented their gifts to Alma Mater, a $100 scholarship, and a clock for the new conservatory library. Dr. Silas Johnson accepted the gifts for Wesleyan.

Rebecca (Caudill) Ayars, Alumnae Trustee, read the citations for the Alumnae Awards, and the president gave to each of these alumnae the award for "distinguished achievement" and for "distinguished service to Wesleyan." (Copies of the citations may be found elsewhere in the magazine.)

Kay (Bailey) Burts, first vice-president, introduced the speaker, Miss Mary Campbell, secretary of the Condé-Nast Publications of New York, and daughter of Helena (Ogden) Campbell. Parts of Miss Campbell's speech are given in this issue of the magazine.

The Alumnae Day Luncheon was held on the Rivoli campus, and the dining room was filled with alumnae, not only reunioners, but all who could come for the occasion. The senior class members were guests of the Association.

During the luncheon two surprise announcements were made. The Silver Anniversary Class made a "Silver Gift" to the Loyalty Fund, and Miss Mary Campbell gave to Wesleyan a check for $500 for scholarships honoring her mother.

Bishop Hazen G. Werner spoke on Sunday morning at Mulberry Street Church, and excerpts from his powerful sermon appear in this magazine.

Dr. Leon P. Smith, Jr., dean of the College of Arts and Sciences of the University of Maryland and father of Elinor Smith, president of the senior class, spoke at the graduation exercises on Monday. Parts of his speech are also used in the magazine.

Honors and Awards

Two graduates of 1951 received the highest scholastic award, "summa cum laude," which means an all-A record for all four years of work. They were: Emily Perry and Nancy Wyatt.

Magna cum laude graduates were: Jo Ann Bolton, Mary Lewis, Betty Neylans, Marjorie Perkins, Elinor Smith, Mary Gene Baldwin, Rebecca Dodd, Evelyn Hamrick, Anne Presley, Marjorie Gray, and Jerrie Thompson.

Cum laude graduates were: Mary

Frances Ealum, Jean Elsom, Marian Morris, Frances Sinback, Daisy Weathers, Day Wilson, Helen Youngblood, Robin Chesney, Charlie Pritchett, Patty Banks, Billie Jones, Anne McKay, Leon Moburg, Olga Willoughby, and Patricia Wing.

Charlotte Battle, junior, received the Ross-Walker Award for excellence in written English, given by the late Hermione (Ross) Walker.

Jerrie Thompson was the recipient of the $100 radio award made annually by station WMAZ to the outstanding senior in radio work.

Vinita Owens received the $300 scholarship awarded annually to a speech student for a year's post-graduate work at the conservatory.

Sidney Ford was awarded a fellowship for graduate study in chemistry, this fellowship established by Dr. James M. Cox, professor of chemistry, in memory of his brother. Sidney will use the fellowship in work toward her master's degree at Duke.

The Phi Delta Phi Honor Society for scholarship at the liberal arts college elected the following to membership from the class of 1951:

Nancy Wyatt, Emily Perry, Sidney Ford, Betty Neylans, Elinor Smith.

The Mu Alpha Omega Honor Society on the conservatory campus elected the following:

Mary Gene Baldwin, Evelyn Hamrick, Ann Pressley, Rebecca Dodd, Mary Gray, Jerrie Thompson.

From The Alumnae Day Speech

It is impossible for us to use all of the commencement addresses, but we want you who could not be with us to share some of the thoughts that were expressed in three of the best commencement speeches we have ever had. This is the last part of Miss Mary Campbell's, on the subject "The Challenge of Living in Today's World."

Now for a bit of summing up! If you have your life in order as to time and money; if you are making the most of yourself, your interests, and your aptitudes; if you are living a full and useful and productive life in a field of work that is right for you—you will find that you are more successful, more popular, and yes, happier! But somewhere deep inside of you there will be a certain restlessness, a yearning for something else, an unexplained boredom; for you really like what you are doing and therefore you wonder why you feel this way—and this brings us to our third and last original question: "Are you living with purpose?"

Do you really believe that you, as an individual count; that God gave you a special task to do, a special contribution to make—that can be made only by you? Do you believe that all that you are: your education; your accomplishments; your special talents; aptitudes; and interest—have all been given to you as a sacred trust to use for the good of others, and that one day you will be held accountable for them? Do you care terribly that thousands of people all over the world are dying from senseless wars and undernourishment; that generations are growing up not knowing that there is a God, without hope or love in their hearts? Do you care that our prisons, mental institutions and hospitals are filled with the human results of social ills? Do you care about all this: Care enough to dedicate your life wherever you may go; in whatever field you work; or whatever type of life you may lead—to work for a better world? This is the challenge that lies in front of each of you today: To live your everyday lives to the maximum; to live them with purpose; and to make the most of every bit of you, every moment of every day.

And so in closing, the best wish that I could give to you, is that as your Alma Mater has been a great pioneer in education for women, so you, will live as pioneers; live with vision; with optimism and with courage; and live unceasingly for peace and for better understanding among all people!

WHAT ALUMNAE WERE BACK AT COMMENCEMENT IN '51?

(The list below is made up from lists of those who said that they were coming, plus those who came to one or more events for alumnae, as far as we were able to determine. We know quite well that it cannot be complete. Returning alumnae are as free as birds and as elusive as nervous fleas, despite all efforts to count them. And why not? It is an occasion for being as gay and irresponsible as possible—always remembering, of course, that dietitians and room assigners have to know how many to prepare for.)

The Alumnae Association Is Your Organization

One alumna asks: "May I make a gift to the Loyalty Fund without being listed in the report-by-classes?" Of course she may, and if you feel the same way, you may, too.

If you want your gift to be kept a deep, dark secret between you and the alumnae bookkeeper, just mention that on a slip of paper accompanying your gift. If you don't mind your name appearing in print, but would rather not be associated with any particular class (as a matter of fact, often we are uncertain what "class" to put alumnae who were very "special" as to their course of study), you may indicate that. We can carry a list of names of "Alumnae-at-large" without putting their class dates.

Everybody who came to Wesleyan long enough to receive any credit at all is considered an "alumna." On our records we keep the facts about whether or not each is a graduate, but there is absolutely no difference made in your welcome as a full member of the Association.

THE ALUMNAE AWARDS

For the second time on Alumnae Day, the Wesleyan Alumnae Association gave to certain alumnae awards for "Distinguished Achievement" and for "Distinguished Service to Alma Mater."

This year there were eight awards, four in the first group, and four in the second.

Names of alumnae to be considered for these awards are sent in by anyone, either other alumnae or anyone outside of the Alumnae Association. The names, accompanied by a statement as to why the sender feels the alumna is worthy of the award, are sent to the Alumnae Office. A secret committee reads through all material submitted and presents names of candidates to the Alumnae Board of Managers, a group of nine members, who make the final decision in each case. (No one on the Board of Managers, and no one officially connected with the college is eligible for the award while in office.) Names may be sent in now, or at any time before March 1, 1952 for next year's awards.

Rebecca (Caudill) Ayars read the 1951 citations as follows:

For distinguished achievement which reflects honor upon Wesleyan College, I present:

MARGIE BURKS

Bachelor of Arts of Wesleyan College in the class of 1905; Diploma de Suficiencia, Centro de Estudios, Madrid, 1922; Master of Arts of the University of Illinois, 1926; Doctor of Philosophy of the University of Illinois, 1929; a cultured woman; a serious student of modern languages in many lands who has loved learning for its own sake; capable teacher; author; member of many professional organizations; student of Spanish history; a loyal daughter of Wesleyan who has bequeathed to the college from the collection of her late mother, Maria M. Burks, many valuable historical documents, including the first Wesleyan catalog, dated 1839.

LOUISE DAVIS DAVISON

Student at Wesleyan College in the class of 1909; graduate of the Boston School of Expression; pioneer in corrective speech; founder of the first free clinic for speech correction in the Southeast at the Baby Clinic of the Central Presbyterian Church in Atlanta; founder and co-director of the Junior League Speech School of Atlanta; charter member of the Georgia Association of Teachers of Speech; for nine years third vice-president of the Association in charge of speech correction in the State; compiler of valuable statistics concerning the numbers of speech-handicapped children in Georgia; president of the Georgia Speech Association; an ardent and effective lobbyist for speech handicapped children in the Georgia legislature; a tireless promoter of teacher-training courses in speech correction; member of many professional organizations; gracious homemaker; devoted teacher with a vision of service; author; a woman of refinement, of deep sympathy and high courage; of devotion to speech-handicapped children who, with her aid, have realized life more happily and more fully; always a friend to Wesleyan.

RUTH FLINN HARRELL

Bachelor of Science of Wesleyan College in the class of 1920; Master of Arts of Columbia University, 1924; Doctor of Philosophy of Columbia University, 1942; teacher, practicing psychologist, wise explorer of the human mind, and patient guide to those who are out of step; an ardent seeker after truth that heals and blesses; noted for her work at Johns Hopkins Hospital in re-educating aphasic patients; for her seven-year study at Columbia University involving 2,000 maternity patients and 2,000 children on the relation of prenatal maternal diet to the intelligence of the young; for her books and articles dealing with this research; honored by many scientific and educational organizations; a homemaker, educator, a rich personality who has salted life with her wisdom and her wit.

MARY CULLER WHITE

Bachelor of Arts of Wesleyan College in the class of 1891.

Graduate of Scarritt College.

Dean of Methodist missionaries to China; rural evangelist who for almost half a century lived and traveled on houseboats on the many rivers of her adopted land, taking to the peoples in remote Chinese villages the good news; stalwart soldier of the Cross acquainted with deprivation and imprisonment; teacher; author, a vigorous preacher, perennially young in spirit; a woman of faith and conviction, living a challenging life.

For distinguished service which reflects honor upon Wesleyan College, I present:

NONIE ACREE QUILLIAN

Bachelor of Music of Wesleyan College in the class of 1909. As wife of Dr.

Receivers of the Alumnae Awards for 1951

Second row: Mary Culler White, Mary (Nicholson) Ainsworth, Louise (Davis) Davison, Nonie (Acree) Quillian.

(Margaret Cook, who also received an award, could not be present for this occasion.)

William Fletcher Quillian, president of Wesleyan from 1920 to 1931, she interested herself particularly in Wesleyan's foreign students, mothered them, shared their joys, listened to their troubles, rallied them in their homesickness, translated for them the ideals of Wesleyan, built through them an indestructible bridge between Wesleyan and many a foreign land over which Christian ideas and ideals may pass to and fro to the betterment of all mankind; donor with her husband of a Wesleyan scholarship for foreign students; a calm voice of influence among Wesleyan alumnae; interested in all that concerns Wesleyan; president of the Wesleyan Club of Atlanta; mother of a Wesleyan alumna.

MARGARET COOK

Student of Wesleyan College in the Class of 1888; member of a family which for two-thirds of a century has served Wesleyan in many capacities with devotion and distinction; missionary to Japan; educator. As Principal of the Kindergarten Training Department of the Lambuth Training School for Christian Workers, Osaka, Japan, she served as a living link between Wesleyan and Japan, and presented to Wesleyan in October, 1924, a donation of $100 in gold, appropriately called the "White Gift," which had been given by scores of Japanese Christians as their offering to the Greater Wesleyan Fund Campaign then being conducted. A servant of Christ, taking the best of Wesleyan to others; sharing with all her vision of One World; substituting for despair, hope; for racial prejudice, the concept of responsible brotherhood; for hate and bitterness, the hard and healing way of love; embodiment of Wesleyan's highest virtues; a model of loyalty to her alma mater; nurse and devoted companion to her late sister, Florrie Cook White, for many years matron in charge of the Wesleyan infirmary.

ROSALINE JENKINS GILMORE

Bachelor of Arts of Wesleyan College in the class of 1919; national treasurer of the Wesleyan Alumnae Association; national President of the Wesleyan Alumnae Association; Alumnae Trustee of Wesleyan. Through her devotion to Wesleyan and her tireless work as Alumnae Chairman of the Second Century Fund Campaign, she inspired the alumnae of Wesleyan to take on their own shoulders the burden of Wesleyan's unfulfilled moral obligation, and to free their alma mater for larger service to humanity through unencumbered Christian education. Always a goodwill ambassador of Wesleyan, whether with or without portfolio; a loyal minute woman of Wesleyan, ready at any call to serve her alma mater; mother of a Wesleyan alumna.

MARY NICHOLSON AINSWORTH

Bachelor of Arts of Wesleyan College in the class of 1891; national President of the Wesleyan Alumnae Association; member of the Board of Managers of the Wesleyan Alumnae Association; for sixty years a devoted daughter of Wesleyan, serving equally faithfully in high positions and in lowly ones, working equally hard toward the realization of Wesleyan's unique fulfillment in bright days and in dark ones; loving Wesleyan without ceasing. As wife of Bishop William Newman Ainsworth, from 1904 to 1942 a member of the Board of Trustees of Wesleyan, for three of those years president of Wesleyan and for twenty-five years chairman of the Board of Trustees, she was a mother to Wesleyan alumnae, gathering them in wherever her travels took her in this country and the Orient, bringing them refreshing news from their alma mater, organizing them into Wesleyan clubs, cementing them to Wesleyan and to one another with her enthusiasm and her personal embodiment of the high ideals of Wesleyan; a splendid woman whose love of Wesleyan has distinguished her, the College, and all of Wesleyan's daughters.

From The Baccalaureate Sermon

Bishop Hazen G. Werner spoke on "Majoring in a Minor," and here is the gist of his message, inspired by Matthew 23:23, which concludes:
"... these ye ought to have done, and not left the other undone."

We Americans can work up an extraordinary amount of interest in the minor, in the incidental. We have an amazing propensity for the negligible. How much we are like that character described by Gilbert and Sullivan "He did nothing in particular and did it very well." We crowd the infinite into so little. There is no more serious fact than that our culture created by the size of our interests is likely to shrink the size of our meaning as persons.

We Major in Relatives Instead of Absolutes

We have been drifting for centuries into the unfortunate practice of positing man as ultimate instead of God. Richard Weaver, of the University of Chicago, tells us that "the chief trouble with our generation is that it has not read the Minutes of the last meeting." We have made man ultimate and created an anthropocentric way of life. We have developed a secular way of life in which what man wants occupies the central place instead of what God wills.

Secularism like a great glacier moves down through the human spirit freezing our sensibilities and numbing our souls. We have been maneuvered into a way of life in which material needs have been endowed with infinity. D. R. Davies, of England, tells us that "we have exchanged the silver trumpet for the tin whistle." In the main, secularism is to be charged with exteriorizing our values, glorifying the physical, inflating the ego and robbing human beings of a sense of meaning.

The trouble with the materialistic influence is that it is so saturating and penetrating as to cause us to be a part of the problem, while attempting to be part of the answer. We cannot separate ourselves from it in order to fight it. It's like a fog and you can't fight a fog. It is inscrutable not only because it is abstract but because it is imminent. We are caught in the dilemma of majoring in a minor when only a major will do.

We are attempting to answer spiritual needs with material means. Happiness comes to the home that purchases so-and-so's linoleum. "She's just the girl for you," says the beaming mother to her son, further observing that "she serves the right kind of tea." But you can't get a map to the future at the gas station. You can't stop the ache in your soul with something that you buy in the drugstore.

We haven't given up God. We still subscribe to His reality. We simply cannot find anything for God to do. God is on the way to becoming an unemployed deity but you can't demote God without degrading man.

We have been majoring in a minor when only a major will do. Man has a hunger for order and for meaning upon which his security depends. Man hungers for more than man can give, something which will answer back to the sinister forces of our day, something that will make democracy impregnable, something that will give meaning to man's life, something that has authority and the power of the absolute.

Man needs the eternal to live by. This is the gravitational force that binds us into an invincible whole. If this age is to be saved it will be saved by the recovery of a discrimination between the eternal and the passing, by the judgment of reality upon the usurpation of the relative, by the fact that man once again majors in what God wills for us.

We Major in the Minor of Political Maneuver Instead of Moral Fitness

Our misconception that political acumen is all important may betray us. The future presents you with a test of moral aggression. Russia may not attempt a war but go on with a program of gradual encirclement, with all of its consequent attrition. Can we stand that? The whole cosmic struggle is resolving itself into a matter of moral survival. Isn't it precisely that which presents the world as a dark picture and causes this feeling of futility?

Is our feeling of insecurity due to the threat of the bomb? We may find out that our fear comes from a deeper level, a fear that we may be no longer worthy to survive. We need the moral integrity and spiritual reconstruction to become accountable as a democracy. All over the world great populations are aligning themselves on one side or the other, Communism or Western Democracy. The Marshall Plan is succeeding, but certainly financial aid will never of itself establish a sound world and a peaceful order. Unless the peoples of the world know in their hearts that what we avow of democratic ideals are true because we practice them, we cannot win. It's a moral strength of accountability that will make us worthy to survive. The only answer to the ominous threat of the present is to live and practice our democracy, to believe in the Golden Rule sufficiently and see to it that our neighbors are not cheated, with as much zeal as we would exercise in protecting ourselves from being cheated. We will need to be morally strong enough to insist that every child regardless of race or religion has a right to health and education. We must major in the major of moral fitness and sufficiency.

From The Baccalaureate Address

(Dr. Leon P. Smith, Jr., son of the late Dean Leon P. Smith and himself dean of the University of Maryland, spoke on the importance of the liberal arts education. Following are some excerpts from his speech:)

I beg you to grant me in human kindness pride in my daughter who sits with the honored seniors; I am sure that the blood of the Smiths, the Wares, the Bighams and the Woods which flows in her veins has in its spiritual properties not been unaffected by the precepts and principles of Wesleyan even before she had the privilege of studying and living here. It has been 21 years, long and terrible, short and sweet years, since my father as dean presented her mother as graduate for Wesleyan's baccalaureate diploma.

Without apology I now address myself to the members of the graduating class. Young ladies, for what did you come to college? Note the wording of the question; I did not ask why you came to college, but what were you seeking? What did you hope to acquire? I hope that most, if not all of you can truthfully answer that you came for collegiate education; I fear that some of you came, or were sent, for job training. In the conflict of these two concepts I see one of the major problems of American higher education.

The long-suffering source of the monthly checks who made possible your higher education may now arise and in righteous indignation ask what, pray tell, is the objection to preparing for a well paying job? None whatsoever, I answer, but I hasten to add that such preparation is best based on a sound liberal education.

One of the greatest tragedies of these fateful days in which we are living is to be found in the currently popular belief that American technical skill can win an ideological war. Mr. Mortimer Graves has said: "We find our intellectual leadership fully committed to waging a scientific war which may conquer men's bodies, but neglecting an even more essential war which must be waged to persuade men's minds. Our present danger is not that we shall be unprepared to gain our military ends, but that in the pursuit of that partial victory we shall compromise our power to win the ultimate battle in men's minds for security and peace."

A liberal education is a liberating education. It should and can make man free. Obviously it frees him from ignorance. Certainly it should free him from superstition, bias, unreasoned and unreasoning dogma. A liberal education must lead you earnestly and diligently to seek the truth. I firmly believe that the good Lord, having distinguished man from the other animals by the gift of reason, confidently expects him to employ his intellect and to train it to the best of his ability. I cannot help but feel that He must get rather irritated with those who ungratefully decline to use this precious gift and expect Him to make up for their deficiencies.

If the word "commencement" has any real semantic value, it implies that as of today you are sufficiently well educated to commence making your own decisions and suffering the consequences thereof, intelligently seeking sound advice. You are freed from thoughtless subservience.

Margie Burks with three of the 1901 Class.

THE LOYALTY FUND

As the magazine goes to press (July 7, 1951) the Loyalty Fund shows a total of $8,252.43 from 713 contributors and alumnae clubs.

The Loyalty Fund year ends August 31, so there is yet time for any who have not sent in a gift to the Fund to do so before the final list of contributors is printed.

We have not yet reached the totals (either in number of contributors or in amount of the fund) of last year, but your Alumnae Director is confident that we shall surpass both.

Below is a list of contributors since the May magazine went to press. (Each issue of the magazine has carried a list, and names of those who contributed earlier in the year are not repeated here. However, the final list, which will be sent you in September, will carry all names.)

whose addresses we have, graduates and non-graduates alike. But you know yourself, if one of your classmates writes to you enthusiastically about coming, you find you can hardly resist it. It is the business of the person who was senior class president (and who becomes "Class Secretary" after graduation in alumnae parlance) to take the lead in working up a good class reunion. However, if she cannot, or for some reason doesn't—anyone else in the class can step in and do this, unofficially, and quite effectively. All of you can write to the classmates you remember best and say, "Let's go to Wesleyan for reunion this year!"

REUNIONS IN 1952

Golden Anniversary Class	1902
Silver Anniversary Class	1927
1896, 1897, 1898, 1899
1915, 1916, 1917, 1918
1934, 1935, 1936, 1937

If your reunion comes next year, begin now to plan to be with us! It is too much fun to miss; ask anyone who was here this year.

so-so? That depends, we have found through the years, entirely on the class. The Alumnae Office sends notices about reunions to every member of the classes

Answers to questions we are often asked

Alumnae sometimes ask how we plan which classes are to have reunions, and the only answer to that is that we use "The Dix Chart," a schedule figured out by a man named Dix who was in alumni work. It is impossible to tell you about it; it is a scheme which only a mathematician could work out, and most colleges use it. We just look on the diagram printed in the reports of the American Alumni Council and "gi' it to you as it was gin to us" as Uncle Remus said. The chief advantage is that it brings back each year four classes which were in college together, so that you will be back for reunion (if you come each time) with everybody who was in at Wesleyan when you were.

Is it possible for an alumna who spent much of her college career with one class, but graduated with another, to come back for reunions with the class in which most of her friends graduated? The answer to that is, certainly. The whole purpose of class reunions is that you shall enjoy them to the fullest, and if you want to be back for reunion with the class of any year, just write the alumnae office to that effect, and it will be arranged. This year two members of the class of '25 "reunited" with '26. One of these started out with '26 and accelerated, finishing a year ahead. The other had close friends in both classes, and was unable to come back last year when '25 had its Silver Anniversary Reunion.

Why is it that some classes have such grand reunions, and some other are just

CLASS NOTES*1880

Harriott (Freeman) Griswold of Miami, the oldest member of Phi Mu and one of Wesleyan's most loyal alumnae, died at her home in Miami in May. Sympathy is extended to her sister, Frances (Freeman) Taylor, '92, and to her daughter, Marie (Griswold) Whaler, '19.

1886

Annie Bell (Cox) Lanier, a widow for ten years, makes her home in Augusta with her son, W. D. Lanier, a lawyer and the father of a son who is in the army. Another son, Howard also lives in Augusta, and Annie Bell has two grandchildren left by the death of their mother, Rita (Lanier) Fussell, A.B. '12.

1888

Wesleyan classmates will be grieved to learn of the death of Mary (Duncan) Harry on April 19. The news comes through her sister, Carrie (Duncan) Coggershall of '90, to whom we extend sympathy.

The late Ida (Lowrey) Stone's daughter, Polly (now Mrs. Norman Buck of New Haven, Conn.) sent this word of her mother, who died recently: "She was 81, and had been an invalid for several years. She just gradually slipped away, and is buried in the family lot in Oxford, where her husband preceded her by 49 years. Her sister, Sallie (Mrs. Frederick Wolfe of North, S. C.) was in the same class at Wesleyan. She leaves another sister, a brother, and three children, myself and my brothers, Lowrey, with whom she made her home in Blakely for 30 years, and Harry, comptroller with the Telephone Company in Atlanta."

1889

Anita (McClendon) Miller's poem, "Radio in the Hill Country" is to appear in the American Poetry League Yearbook. She has also had poems published recently in magazines: "I Have No Word to Say" in American Bard; "Quiet Ending" in Candor Magazine; and "From a Hospital Window" in The Lantern.

1890

Nimqui (Williams) Smith writes that she keeps busy with housekeeping, and continues her music as pianist of the First Methodist Church in Hartwell, Ga.

1891

The class of '91 was grieved to learn of the death of Ella (Gerdine) Jordan in Atlanta in April after an illness of

How Do You Pronounce "Alumnae"?

At a meeting of alumni and alumnae secretaries of all colleges in the United States and Canada it was agreed some years ago to use the following pronunciations:

Alumni (graduates and former students who are men) with a long i, pronounced like "eye."

Alumnae (women) with a long e sound, as in "knee."

several months. Sympathy is extended to her sister, Leila (Gerdine) Burke, '96 of Macon.

Birt (Thomas) Park lives in Phoenix, Arizona, with her daughter. She has a great-grandson whose name is Schuyler White Liniger.

1892

Lola (Johnson) Hawkins makes her home in Tampa with her son. She has six grandchildren and one great-granddaughter.

The death of Birdie Baber-Blackshear in April recalled to many Maconites the days when "Miss Birdie" and her sister, "Miss Mary" taught dancing at their home, "Merrymakers' Retreat" on Walnut Street.

Lucy (Chapman) Gilbert has taught music in Dublin for many years, and started many young people on their musical careers.

Lula (Jackson) Rhodes died April 13 at the home of her daughter in Louisville, Ga.

1893

Florrie (Smith) Evans lives in Ashburn where she has two daughters, Margaret (Evans) McDonald, '21, county welfare worker, and Josephine (Evans) Miller, '22, school teacher. Her son, who is a truck farmer in Florida, recently donated a carload of celery to the polio drive. She has six grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

1895

Elberta (Peacock) Leonard spent two months in Jacksonville with her son last winter, and was present for the christening of her grandson. She writes of receiving recently a picture of Rosalie (Tarver) Wade's garden in Charlotte, N. C., one of the show places of that city.

Fannie (Singleton) Ogden, although she is now confined to her home because of illness, still manages to teach a few music pupils. She was delighted recently to see her sister-in-law, Helena E. (Ogden) Campbell, who was at Wesleyan for commencement.

Nora (Wood) Ware of Pineview recently retired after 25 years as a teacher, and enjoyed a visit to her son, a doctor in the Navy in Washington, D. C. She saw President Truman and the President of France, and saw the cherry blossom festival. On the way home she visited a son in Atlanta, and enjoyed seeing the Emory campus looking equally spring-like in pink and white dogwood. Nora's granddaughter, Elinor Smith, was graduated with honor from Wesleyan in June.

1896

Nell (Collier) Space, honorary president of ADPI, was honored at Florida Southern College at the centennial celebration held by the Gamma Gamma Chapter.

She was presented with a corsage, cut the 100-candled cake, was the centennial queen, and gave a brief account of Adelphean at Wesleyan in 1895.

Annie (Hardeman) Blackshear and her husband are leaders in the Methodist church in Dublin, Ga.

1897

Vera (Clinton) McBirney had the pleasure of seeing her classmate, Susie (Martin) Catchings when the latter visited her son in Tulsa. "Susie is the same gracious, charming person with the same sweet voice I remember from our Wesleyan days." Susie's son and daughter-in-law have two attractive children. Rosa (Guerry) Snowden's son has recently moved to Tulsa, and Vera looks forward to seeing Rosa, too.

Sympathy is extended to Corinne (Lawton) Jordan in the death of her brother, Calder B. Lawton in New York City on June 11.

1898

A letter from Lucy (Evans) Stephens tells of her regret at missing the commencement festivities this year, because of the necessity for another operation on her hip. Her Wesleyan friends sincerely hope that this operation will speed her complete recovery from her accident of nearly a year ago.

1900

Claudia (Hodges) McKinnon finds joy in working in her local church in Statesboro, especially in teaching in the Youth Department and in working with the WSCS.

Louise (Frederick) Hays, recovering from an illness, sent her regrets at missing her class reunion this commencement. Elsewhere in the magazine is an account of her valuable gift of copies of The Methodist Magazine to the Wesleyan library.

May (Wilder) McClure has lived in Washington, D. C. since 1918. She is a widow, the mother of three married sons, and has four grandchildren.

1901

The Golden Anniversary Class, all in all, had a successful reunion. Perhaps this will seem an exaggeration in view of the fact that of the sixteen graduates only two were present, Maude (Brannen) Edge and Margaret (Hall) Hazard. Mary Belle (Adams) Davis and Viola (Ross) Napier, members of the class who did not continue to graduate, made delightful contribution to the festivities with their reminiscences of collegemates and college happenings.

The reunion classes were seated together at the dinner Friday night, and at the luncheon Saturday in groups of the classes who were in college together. So there was a reunion of collegemates as well as of classmates. The chatter at the table, punctuated with "Do you remember?" made me, a mere "town girl" realize for the first time, 50 years too late, how much of college life town girls miss. It was delightful to see again Lucy Lester and Margie Burks (who received an alumnae award), Stella Daniel, Louise (Peddy) Wadsworth, Nettie Peacock, and Bessie (Houser) Nunn. There was great distress because of Mary Addie (Murph) Mullino's painful accident shortly after her arrival at Rivoli when she fell and broke her wrist and hip.

Of the class of 1901 May Allen King, Dorothy (Rogers) Tilly, Mary (McAndrew) Thompson, and Mary (Park) Polhill had planned to take part in the festivities. But we are all older than in 1901 and the "chances and changes of this mortal life" may play havoc with the best laid plans. Mary (Park) Polhill, after helping make plans for the reunion and hoping until the last minute to come, had to telegraph her inability to be here because of illness. May Allen King had a very ill sister, and Mary (McAndrew) Thompson an ill husband. The demands on Dorothy (Rogers) Tilly's time are always so uncertain that she accepts all invitations with the proviso "if I am free."

But it was a successful reunion. We learned much of each other through correspondence and, with me at least, and I am sure with the others of the class, there is a pulling of old ties, a longing to see again old friends in all their maturity, with the crowning glories of accomplishment shining forth in their lives and faces. I want to meet them again in their homes, in their places of business. I don't expect to see the girls I left in 1901, but I do long to know better my friends of 1951, and drink from the wells of experience greater inspiration for the rest of the journey left me.

Margaret (Hall) Hazard.

Mary (Loehr) Allen writes from Princeton, N. J.: "I am sending bits of news about members of the family of the late Mary (Houston) Allen, 1858, who went to China with her husband, Dr. Young J. Allen, 90 years ago. Last year the last of the family concluded their residence in that country, the last to get away being Alice E. Allen, A.B. '95, and her nephew and niece, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Richard Turner. Dick was U. S. Vice Consul in Shanghai, and his wife, Patsy Dean McGee, was also in the Consulate, in the Visa Department. Their home in Shanghai was full of beautiful things accumulated during the 90 years, but they had to leave by rail to Tientsin, and by the General Gordon to Hongkong with only two suitcases each. Dick was transferred to the Diplomatic Section in Tokyo, and since May 1950 they have lived there. They have a little daughter, Susan Dean, born in Tokyo on January 2, 1951. The family expect to be in this country sometime in June. We do not know yet to which country Dick will be transferred after his furlough.

"My younger sister who married Andrea Saetti in Florence, Italy, left Peiping just ahead of the Communists, and are now living in Mill Valley, Calif., with their two children, John Allen and Marisa Houston.

"My late brother Allen G. Loehr was a diplomatic official in Peiping and Consular official in Shanghai. My brother, George Loehr, is on the faculty of Princeton and is preparing a book on "Cultural Relations between Europe and China in the Eighteenth Century." He is also working on a biography of our grandfather, Dr. Young J. Allen.

"As for me, I continue to write when I am able, and am a member of the Paterson Branch of the National League of American Pen Women, and am State President of the Composers, Authors, and Artists of America."

Floy (McLain) Thigpen's husband is an executive of The Hand Co. of Pelham. Their only son, Grover, Jr., is an insurance engineer in Charlotte, N. C., and has an eight-year-old son.

Mattie Hays (Robinson) Maffett's husband died when her two daughters were small, and she taught in the high school in Montezuma for a number of years. Both daughters are now married, and each has a little daughter of her own.

Laura (Smith) Foster is a widow, and spends much time with her daughter, whose home is in West Palm Beach, Fla.

Annie Mary (Wood) Rawlings' grandson, William, Jr., is her greatest joy. She is active in the WSCS in Sandersville, Ga.

1907

Sympathy is extended to Mildred (Canon) Marshall in the death of her husband, Dr. H. D. Marshall, in May.

Mattie (Chappell) Lawton and her husband plan to build a summer home in north Georgia, on a knoll not far from the summer home of Tatum (Pope) Happ, '07.

Elizabeth (Moseley) Coles has recovered from a serious illness during which she was a patient for some weeks at St. Joseph's in Atlanta. She had the shock and sorrow of losing her brother last August.

1908

Sympathy is extended to Katherine Melson Birdsey, former teacher of voice at Wesleyan, in the death of her husband, Angus Bell Birdsey, and also to Mr. Birdsey's sister, Myra Birdsey of the class of 1908.

Genie (Daniel) Smith makes her home with her sister in Hagan, Ga., and teaches in the Bellville School.

Tracy (Duncan) Cohen is president of the Garden Clubs in Augusta.

Annabel (Holland) Grimes has been quite successful in carrying on the jewelry business which her late husband started in Statesboro.

Ruth Hopkins is principal of the Harwell Avenue Grammar School in LaGrange.

Fannie Lou (Irwin) Irwin, is president of the Transylvania Club of San-dersville, which sponsors the library there, and also sponsors the sale of the Wedgwood Georgia china.

Miriam (Taylor) Smith has two sons, one living in Montezuma and one in Washington, D. C., and a daughter, Miriam (Smith) Boyette, '37, in Albany.

Margaret (Van Dyke) Larson works in the post office in Jeffersonville.

1909

The class of 1909 will be grieved to learn of the death in March of Josephine (Dieter) Smith of Savannah after a brief illness. She received her degree in nursing from Johns Hopkins, and during World War I served as a lieutenant in the nursing corps at Camp Meade, Md. During World War II she was in charge of nurses' aides in Savannah.

Sympathy is extended to these alumnae in the death of their sister in October in Macon: Carrie (Stubbs) Christien, Art '09; Bessie (Stubbs) Fulford, A.B. '09; Hattie (Stubbs) Dickson, A.B. '13, and Helen (Stubbs) Bridger, A.B. '17.

1911

Jeanette Baum is one of the best cake makers in Dublin, and stays busy making beautiful cakes for birthdays and weddings.

Mae (Forehand) Powell lives in Rome, and visits her married children, three daughters living in Rome, Fayetteville, N. C., and Dublin, and a son, Nathan, Jr., in Hoffman, N. C.

Sympathy is extended to Edith (Marshall) Garrett in the tragic death of her husband, Solicitor Charles H. Garrett of the Bibb County Circuit, on April 11. He was struck by a hit-and-run driver in front of his home in Macon, and was dead on arrival at the hospital. Sympathy is extended also to his daughter, Geraldine (Garrett) Jordan, A.B. 36.

Adelia Nicholson makes her home in Tallahassee, Fla., and "keeps the home fires burning" for her two sisters who work.

Addilu (Powell) Hardy is music teacher, organist at the Presbyterian church, and society editor of the paper in Cairo, Ga.

Winnie (Power) Groover of LaGrange has a married daughter, Winifred, and a son, Charles, in college.

Mary (Ponder) Hatch has lived in Conyers only a short time, but already has a host of friends. She is an officer in the WSCS, and is interested in the Garden Club.

Edna (Watkins) Neuman-Sowers and her husband are both preparing for the ministry in a Bible College in Los Angeles, Calif. She has a daughter, Mary, who is a student at Wesleyan Conservatory, and a son, Dr. Robert Edward Neuman, and one grandson, Robert Edward, Jr.

1912

Edwina Green is doing a good job as superintendent of the primary department of the Methodist Sunday School in Waynesboro.

Josie (Jeffords) Herrin sent to Wesleyan for her Loyalty Fund the check she received for an article about the last Indian uprising and massacre in Georgia.

Sympathy is extended to Stella (Roberts) Pendleton in the death of her husband in October.

Walter (Tilley) Pierce writes that she has recently had a wonderful visit with Ves Parker in Arcadia, Fla. "Ves is the most unselfish person I have ever known," she writes, "a truly 'unforgettable character.' Vivian Lee married Ves' oldest brother, Zeb, but lived only a few years after their marriage, so Ves took over the care and rearing of her two daughters, June and Vivian. (Vivian received the B.M. degree from Wesleyan.) Both girls are married, and their children call Ves 'Granny darling,' and she is in truth a perfect mother and grandmother to her adopted children and grandchildren."

1913

Annie (Gantt) Anderson did a wonderful job as General Chairman of the ADPi Centennial convention held at Wesleyan in June, as one would have expected of the former national president of the Wesleyan Alumnae Association.

Alberto (Denton) Marshall played her composition to Ollie Reeves' poem, Georgia, at a meeting of the Atlanta Wesleyan alumnae on May 19.

Annie L. (Feagin) Hamilton is organist at the Christian Church in Dublin.

The class of '14 will be grieved to learn of the death of Eloise (Cooper) Cannon of Conyers shortly before commencement. Eliza (Hill) Martin had written earlier of her illness with leukemia. "Eloise has always been such a useful person in the community, and went bravely on during her illness, fully realizing her condition. At a call from her ADPi sisters to lend her pin for their convention, she not only gave her pin, but that of her daughter who was killed many years ago while riding horseback. Her husband, Dr. Cannon, died several years ago."

1915

Jane (Galt) Bailor writes that full-time housekeeping is her job, and her church work, garden club, DAR work, and rug-hooking are her outside activities. She lives in Hanover, N. H.

Her daughter, Julia, is taking a pre-nursing course at Armstrong Junior College, and the younger daughter, Mellie, will enter the freshman class at Wesleyan in the fall.

Isma Swain teaches in LaGrange high school, and directs the choral group.

Louise (Walters) Johnston is head of the commercial department of the high school in Alma, and teaches a veterans' class at night. Her landscaped garden is one of the show places of Alma. She has a daughter and two sons, and a granddaughter three years old.

About The Class Reunion:

Jeffie (Bennett) Smith writes:

"Returning members of the Class of '22 made up in spirit for what we lacked in numbers and if our voices didn't lift very high when we sang our old class songs, 'We're all bound round by the Lavender and White,' and 'Jolly Old Pals' at least we added to the sound effects during the reunion dinner in the Conservatory dining room. Here is news gleaned from all the chatter:

"Henrietta Collings is enjoying her new home, a charming colonial cottage built of lovely old brick, and furnished with many heirloom pieces. She manages to find time for gardening despite a heavy schedule — during the past year she taught a class in music education at the Conservatory in addition to her full time job supervising music in the elementary schools of Bibb County and her work as director of the boys' choir at the Macon Y.M.C.A. Henrietta received her Master's degree from Peabody last summer.

Josephine (Evans) Miller, who lives in Ashburn, has two sons, Bo, 17, who has completed his first year at Emory-at-Valdosta, and Joe, an eighth grader, much interested in scouting. Josephine is active in the Woman's Club, garden club, P.-T.A., American Legion Auxiliary, teaches a Sunday School class and during the past year has been a substitute teacher in the Ashburn schools.

"Isabel (Hackett) Kinnett's son, Don, a Georgia Tech graduate, is production engineer at Blue Bird Bus Body Works, Fort Valley, and her daughter, Isabel, is a college junior. Isabel teaches geometry and algebra at Lanier Senior High School, Macon, is president of the Georgia council of mathematics teachers and public relations chairman of the Bibb County Education Association. Isabel had a wonderful trip to the West coast in June, going to San Francisco as a delegate to the National Education Association convention.

Irene (Sewell) Hobby was looking incredibly young to have a son studying at Duke University. In Atlanta she stays quite busy in several clubs and has given outstanding service to the Atlanta Wesleyan Alumnae Club.

"Ruth (Holt) Sheehan has held practically every office in the WSCS of the Vineville Methodist church and is now serving as chairman of Christian social relations. Her son, Jim, received his degree from the Harvard School of Business Administration in June.

"Lydia (Tanner) Weaver was the only grandmother in our class who was back for our reunion. She has a beautiful home on Osborne Place in Macon and three fine sons. The oldest boy, Billie, and his wife, the former Jean Evans, '49, have an adorable little two-year-old son, "BB." Billie is with the Kraft Paper Company in Macon, having graduated in Forestry at the University of Florida. Lydia's second son, Charles ("Chalky" to his friends), was teaching English at Lanier Junior High School when he decided to go to Africa as a teacher for the Methodist Mission Board. He will go soon after he completes a six-weeks training course at the Hartford Seminary Foundation in Connecticut. Charles graduated from Mercer and Lydia's youngest son, Jimmie, will get his degree in business administration from there next June.

"Mary (Wilson) Adams is president and life member of the WSCS of the Fitzgerald Methodist Church and teaches a Sunday School class. She is busy in several civic and cultural clubs, secretary of the Magnolia Garden Club, and in addition manages her husband's fire insurance agency while he holds a position at the post office. Their son, C. Roy Adams, Jr., 19, is a sophomore at the University of Georgia, and plans to study law. He is president of the Phi Eta Sigma Honor society and a member of the glee club, student council, ATO fraternity and inter-fraternity council.

"We were grieved when Gladys (Dismuke) Newman wrote saying that she could not attend the reunion and told of the grave condition of her mother in a New Orleans hospital. Her mother died on June 1 and soon after, Gladys was notified that her son, Jack, a Marine, had been wounded in Korea. Our class extends our sympathy, and a fervent wish for Jack's early recovery. The Newman's older son, Bill, a University of Georgia graduate, is farming, a love which he inherited from Gladys' family who operated extensive farms at Graves."

Jeffie says that the only news item in her family is that her son, Walton, is an automobile insurance underwriter in Atlanta and a member of the Junior Chamber of Commerce there. She says that it was a great pleasure during her class reunion to "see her teacher, Mrs. Lula Comer, whose French classes gave her pupils an incurable love of the Romance languages; Miss Banks Armand, whose superhuman way with figures made one a little ashamed of his own inaccuracies; Miss Katharine Carnes, whose greatest admirers are those, like myself, who have had the privilege of working in her library."

1923

Emily (Barfield) Pridgen's son, Lee, graduated from the University of Miami in 1949, and is now a naval cadet in Pensacola, Fla.

Sympathy is extended to Laura (Frascur) Knight in the death of her father in April.

Elizabeth (Jones) Williamson's son, Britt, is a sophomore at Bucknell, and the second son, George, enters Colgate in the fall. Her daughter, Nancy, is in the second grade in grammar school.

Becky (Oliphant) Anthony is very busy as the wife of the pastor of Vineville Methodist Church in Macon, teacher of a young adults' class at the church, and president of the Wesleyan Alumnae Club of Macon, as well as the mother of three sons. "Micky," who has finished his work at Emory and passed exams for a cadet navigator school, has been keeping the road hot to Wesleyan dating a senior. Bascom completed his sophomore year at Emory as a pre-med student. Jimmie is a student at Lanier Junior High in Macon, and says he is going to carry on the Anthony tradition by being a minister.

1924

Sarah (Askew) Brannon has five sons. John, Jr. is married; Gene in the navy, and the others at home in Newnan, Ga.

Sympathy is extended to Aurelia (Cooper) Evans in the death of her husband, prominent business man and city councilman of Perry, on January 26. Mr. Evans, former county school superintendent, was stricken with a heart attack while on a hunting trip, and his death shocked and saddened the whole community where he was much beloved. Aurelia has one daughter, Martha.

Anna (Crittenden) Lumpkin conducts an insurance business in Shellman. She has one daughter, Carolyn.

Ruth (Dunaway) Smith teaches in Harlem. She has a daughter, Mary Ruth, and a son, Dr. Dewitt Smith of Augusta.

Miriam (Fletcher) Haddock is organist for the Methodist church in Cuthbert and teaches public school music. Her daughter, Miriam, is in high school. Her sons are David, now at Dahlonga in school, and Jack, a lieutenant with the infantry in Korea. His wife and year-old son are with Miriam.

Elizabeth (Garrett) Page and her daughter, Betty, '46, have a kindergarten in Dublin, and operate another one on St. Simon's Island in the summer.

Ruth (Holden) Lundy's husband has farming interests in Cairo. They have a daughter and a son.

Leah Kittrell continues to operate the optical business in Dublin which her late father started over 50 years ago.

Alma Parnell is secretary to the Jenkins County Health Department.

Beth (Rhyne) Center's husband is a druggist in Ft. Pierce, Fla. Their two sons, Bill and Bruce, are students at the University of Florida.

Carolyn (Summerlin) Kendrick's home and little daughter keep her busy in Dublin. Her husband has an electrical supply house. They have a married son and a little grandson, too.

1925

Lucile Carswell, teacher at Miller High School in Macon, is sponsor of the Tri-Hi-Y, which organization initiated a "Beauty Path" in the city to direct visitors through interesting parts of Macon.

Pauline (Carter) Brown's Virginia is counting on coming to Wesleyan in a few years. Two of her great-grandmothers and a grandmother came, as well as her mother, aunts, and cousins.

Nell (Caveny) Martin's husband is a doctor in Huntington, W. Va. They have a married daughter who has two sons, and also a high school age son.

Evelyn (Dunkin) Smith's husband is vice-president of the McQueen Smith Farms organization, one of the largest agricultural activities in Alabama. They have three children.

Laree (Farr) Blanks' son, Bruce Lynn, was married April 22 to Lois Marie Farris of Atlanta. Bruce is a graduate of G.M.C. and attended Emory. He is a transmitter engineer at radio station WAGA in Atlanta.

Louise (McKoy) Smith assists her lawyer husband in his office in Sylvester, and for relaxation they work in their camellia nursery, grafting and developing fine stock.

Grace Parker does welfare work in Jenkins County.

Annie Laurence (Riley) Sawyer and Mary (Wilson) Stevenson joined the class of '26 for their Silver Anniversary reunion. "Pete" really began with the class of '26 and accelerated to graduate a year sooner, as did "Peaches" (Stubbs) Lowrey. And Mary, whose husband is dean of Brevard College, could not come last year because their college was welcoming a new president.

1926

Rossie Andrews teaches music and expression in Americus, and is organist at the Methodist church.

Bess (Darsey) Stanley's fourth daughter, Louise, a Wesleyan student, is on a trip to Texas with her classmate, Gray Ayers. Bess' oldest daughter, Betty, '49, has been teaching second grade in Savannah, and is at summer school at Northwestern. Nan, '50, had a very sweet wedding at Wesley Monumental Church in March, practically a Wesleyan wedding, both bride's and groom's mothers being Wesleyannes.

Rachel (Davidson) Strickland's husband is manager of the Lithonia Gas Company.

Sympathy is extended to Christelle (Fenn) Thompson and to Louise (Fenn) Bowen in the death of their mother on June 15.

Edna Earle (Jones) Flourney's husband is an attorney in Cedartown. They have a high-school age son.

Mary Clayton (Jones) Meier's husband is a merchandise broker in Roanoke, Va. They have a fourteen-year-old daughter, Mary.

Madge (Kennon) Hatcher's husband has retired from the navy, and they are living in Waynesboro and Madge is director of the Presbyterian choir.

Camille Maynard is teaching in Cochran, Ga.

Louise (Rainey) Price's husband is a government lawyer, and Louise is immediate past president of the Wesleyan Alumnae Club there.

Anna (Weaver) Lee resigned her position as principal of Miller Junior High School in Macon after teaching 25 years in the Bibb County system, and was succeeded by Clara Nell Hargrove, A.B. '29. The Board of Education expressed deep appreciation to Anna for her years of service, and for her fine influence on the students. Anna will devote her time to her home. Her husband, Dr. W. G. Lee, was honored in April at a convention of the Garden Club of Georgia for "outstanding accomplishment in the culture and development of camellias, and for sharing his knowledge with the public."

Virginia (Williams) Wight's twin daughter and son tied for first honor in the Marion County High School, with identical averages of 95.5, so the school had two valedictorians this year.

Dear Absent Members of the Silver Anniversary Reunion Class of 1926:

We missed you. It was such a happy experience, a thrilling occasion to reunite after a lapse of twenty-five years.

that we wanted to share some of our fun with you. You remember it was our class who rode out to Rivoli during graduation week to break the ground for new Greater Wesleyan. We probably thought then that twenty-five years hence, if we met in the Conservatory dining room for the class dinner on our silver anniversary, we would scarcely recognize each other as we tottered to our tables. But I want you to know that, in spite of our bifocals, trifocals and silver threads, our spirit was as young as ever. This was substantially proven at the 2 A.M. "bull session" in 201 Wortham Hall when the night watchman "shushed" us from the court below our window.

After singing "Silver Threads Among the Gold" at the dinner Friday night and greeting old friends, all the reuniting alumnae went to the Social Hall for the business meeting of the Association. By the way, the Social Hall has replaced some of the old practice rooms and Mr. Maerz' former studio. The speaker of the evening was our own Sara Jenkins who was very graciously introduced by Freda Kaplan. Sara gave us a delightful and refreshing insight into the life of an author which she claims is not an easy one. She was honor guest at a tea at Davison's Book Store Friday afternoon where she busily autographed her latest book. Sara kept her audience chuckling as she told of her trials and tribulations in writing and re-writing her first book to suit the publishers. Happiness radiated in her voice and smile as her speech terminated with the announcement of her forthcoming marriage June 23rd in Miami.

Following the meeting, Elizabeth Winn invited the class of '26 to her beautiful home in Ingleside for refreshments and a midnight "bull session." There about seventeen of us gathered round, took off our shoes and "let our hair down" as we talked about the good old days. Family albums were opened when our purses revealed photographs of our children, and such conversations as these were heard: Elizabeth Cannon and Katherine Lowe telling of their sons' Boy Scout interests, Mildred Jackson's sixteen-year-old daughter who plays the piano beautifully and plans to come to Wesleyan, Sulee Barnum's daughter who will graduate at Wesleyan next year, outstanding scholastic achievements of Annie Laurence Riley's High School daughters, Mary Wilson's young son and husband who is connected with Brevard College in North Carolina, Mamie Harmon's interesting artistic work in New York, Alice Barnum who looked chic in her uniform as a Naval Lieutenant, telling of her experiences in the service, ReLee Mallory and her husband's valuable work with the students at Emory at Oxford, Lavada Harper's work as an accountant, Helen Goepp's three lovely children, Carrie Lou Allgood's government work in Washington, Lola Hagood's children of Marietta, Frances Holland's teen-age son and small daughter and Dorothy Allen's return to teaching. The roll was called when Lola Hagood thoughtfully brought out the 1926 Vetteropt. The group was brought up to date on news of absent members by those who were present. Others who attended the meetings were Gabriella Pierce of Columbus, Frances Cater, Edna Mahone, Elizabeth Martin and Emily Brown of Macon. About 2 A.M. Elizabeth Cannon reminded us that, if we didn't get to bed we would certainly show our age in the morning.

Saturday morning after breakfast a group of us walked down to the new lake on the campus and took snap-shots and movies with our cameras. At the alumnae luncheon, a gift of silver from the class of '26 was presented to the college by Mamie Harmon—one dollar for each year since we graduated. Address books were constantly making the rounds at the table. In the afternoon a number of the class enjoyed a visit in Helen Goepp's lovely home in Shirley Hills.

We hope all of you will be able to join us at our next reunion!

Sulee (Barnum) Weldon.

1927

Virginia (Arnall) Moody's husband is a veterinarian, peach grower, and tractor agent in Newnan. They have two red-haired children, Virginia and Walker.

Maxine (Baldwin) Schauffele writes for local papers in Dublin, and for state papers. Her husband is a partner in Dublin's largest grocery store. They have one son, Cris, Jr.

Lucile (Bryant) Johnson, dean at LaGrange College, is a member of Pen Women of America.

Sympathy is extended to Elizabeth (Coates) James and to her sister, Martha (Coates) Belote, '35, in the death of their mother after a long illness.

Dorothy Ezzard is with the Guinnett Health Department.

Margaret (Fowler) Patton's son, Bill, is at William and Mary. David, 13, is six feet tall and both boys are basketball stars. Margaret says, "The seasons in our household are not spring, summer, etc., but baseball, football, basketball, etc. Our intelligence is graded by our knowledge of the games and the players, and the boys have even their grandmother reading the sports pages."

Eula (Hubbard) Dominick's husband is president of the Autauga County Farm Bureau in Alabama, and is an outstanding grower of sweet potatoes in the county. Both are leaders in religious and civic activities in Prattville, Ala.

Kathryn (McKay) Hamilton has a son, Jimmie Miller, in the air force at Wichita Falls, Texas. Her daughter, Dorothy Ann Miller, is a senior in high school in Key West, Fla., and her son, Gurdon Hamilton, enters junior high next year.

Roberta (Oxford) Hancock's husband is a cashier in the American National Bank in Winter Haven, Fla. They have one son, A. G., Jr., now in the armed forces.

Minnie Lee (Rankin) Dykes teaches music in Millen, where her husband is school superintendent. Their daughters are Celetta, 14, and Coyle, 5.

Judith (Rice) Lowry teaches seventh grade at Slaton School in Atlanta. This is her 18th year in the Atlanta school system.

Nathalie (Williams) Rivers of Milledgeville has two sons.

1928

Virginia (Banks) St. John has a full life in Newnan with work in the WSCS, Reading Circle, Wesleyan Service Guild, and as superintendent of the intermediate department of the Sunday School and leader of the MYF. She is the mother of one son, Jimmy.

Nancy (Blount) Coney has a responsible position at Warner Robins Air Base. She is active in church choir work in Hawkinsville.

Carroll (Boyd) McLean and her husband have sold their retail business, and she has been running a day nursery at home since her third child is in kindergarten. She sings in a woman's chorus which is directed by a musician and composer from the Ukraine, and has been renewing her first aid training and is a member of a first aid squad which maintains an ambulance and other equipment, including an iron lung.

Pauline (Brooks) Guerry's daughter, Gloria, was married in May to Arthur Hollis III of Lake Charles, La.

Mamie Burton, formerly of Waynesboro, has been making her home with a sister in Macon since the death of their mother.

Cleo (Coley) Love's daughter, Leila, was married to Lloyd Richard Davis of the U. S. Army on May 12. Leila is physical education instructor at Missouri State University. Cleo is still teaching music in LaFayette, Ga. and giving organ recitals to demonstrate Baldwin organs.

Sara Lee (Edwards) Whatley is in Claxton, doing instructional supervision in Bryan and Evans Counties. She says the highlight of her daily routine is waving at the school children waiting for the buses as she drives down the highway in her new blue "Chevvy." Her son, Sam, is a sophomore at dental college at Emory, and Lavinia is a junior at G.S.C.W., majoring in social science.

Sara (Fincher) Davis of Doerun has three handsome sons, ranging in age from 8 to 16.

Bessie Lee (Gunter) Bredenburg teaches in the Episcopal Day School in Augusta. Frances (Jordan) DeRoller, '44, teaches art in the same school.

Mamie (Gunter) Stephenson Marshall's son, Gunter Stephenson, was recently named "Man of the Year" by members of the Winter Haven Chamber of Commerce. He is a county solicitor, and was active in developments which led to the arrest of a local gambler.

Arrie (Horton) Fisher and her husband of Cochran have two sons, Jeff and Jo. Arrie served two years as president of the P.T.A.

Maude (McGehee) Hogg's husband is in the wholesale lumber business in Marietta, and they have a son, Clyde, 9½ and a daughter, Celia, 5½. Maude is very busy with her work for her church, serving as grade mother, having a den of cub scouts, and attending as many Wesleyan Alumnae meetings in Atlanta as possible.

Sarah (McNair) Jordan is manager of the women's ready-to-wear department of the Hand Trading Co. in Pelham. Her husband is a federal appraiser. Their daughter, Juliette, is a commercial artist with Rich's in Atlanta; one son, Gus, is a ministerial student at Emory in Valdosta; Mildred and John are in school.

Marguerite (Matheson) Nichols of Ft. Myers writes that she has two little god-daughters who are future Wesleyannes. Marguerite and Joyce Turner, A.B. '46, work together on the church bulletin in Ft. Myers.

Induk Pakh spoke in Toms River, N. J. in the spring, and Carroll (Boyd) McLean writes most enthusiastically about the impression she made. "She gives Miss Anne Chennault Wallace credit for her training, but her appeal is also in her utter simplicity, and her genuine interest in people. She has no booking agent now, but had six tours planned ahead, and is busy for months ahead. Induk's daughter, whose husband is missing in action in Korea, has two small children, and lives in a house with 27 other people. Induk seems to be responsible for the support of about 80 people, but looks little different from the way she did in 1928."

Kathryn (Royal) Wooten takes an active part in the life of Cordele, where she and her doctor husband have a lovely home and two children. She and her sisters, Dorothy (Royal) Gower (also a doctor's wife) and Marjorie are all the daughters of the late Bertha (Pate) Royal.

Sarah (Sheppard) Lee and her husband live with her mother in Cordele.

Sympathy is extended to Eva (Sutton) Britton in the death of her brother, F. Eugene Sutton.

Mildred Tarver teaches the fourth grade in Blakely, Ga.

Ruth Welch lives in Pelham with her mother, and is a partner in a very successful florist and gift shop.

Addie Lee (Wood) Reagan's husband is in the Post Office in Cairo. They have one daughter, Louise.

Henrietta (Wooten) McClure is married to a Presbyterian minister in Charlotte, N. C. The oldest of their three boys will enter Davidson College in the fall. Henrietta's sister, Rebecca (Wooten) Gurr, whose husband is an army colonel, is now at Maxwell Field where he is an instructor.

Ruth (Jones) Windsor is building a new home in Augusta.

1937

Sympathy is extended to Geraldine (Dorsey) Culpepper in the death of her father in April.

1938

Jeanette Deaver writes: "I'm heartbroken that I won't be able to make the class reunion! I haven't even seen more than three or four of the class since we graduated. I'm loving my job as executive director of Southern Oakland Girl Scouts in Detroit. I supervise a staff of six, plus a graduate student from the school of Social Work, and we cover a territory of about 350 square miles. We shall have an established camp this summer and four day camps and two troop camp sites."

Wesleyan is grieved to learn of the death of Mary Lois (Hitch) Felton in June. She leaves her husband and three small children.

Alberte (Wolf) Colbert has a second son, born April 14.

The Spirit of '38 Rides Again

(By one of the riders, Margaret (Turner) Beaty)

"Why, she hasn't changed a bit!"

"Now let's have no more remarks about gray hair!"

"How many children do you have?"

That's reunion!

It's like dreaming when you're awake. There we were, about a dozen of us, gathered in one dormitory room, a real Wesleyan "bull session" in full swing. (Or should I say "heifer session?" I'm cattle conscious these days.)

There was Caroline (Nunn) Brown pausing every now and then to interject "I talk too much!" And all of us, spell-bound, wishing we could be so entertaining. There was Joe (Estes) Sherrill, a real knock-out with her sleek, long hair. Joe is a cow-girl, too, these days, so a couple of Brahman bulls sneaked into the conversation.

Everybody seemed the same and yet the subjects discussed were so different. No talk about this cute boy or that—no dates, no parties, no proms. (Exception: Marguerite (Johnson) White describing present appearance of an old flame of Caroline's Moral: Never ask Marguerite about anybody you ever went with. "Gosh, you all must think I went with really cute boys!" was all Caroline could say.)

We talked about boys all right, from 11 years old right down to the cradle. Everybody kept poking snapshots under everybody else's noses. There was Marguerite's handsome two-year-old son. There was Sadie (Standifer) Davis' three-year-old daughter who astounds her mother by being the tallest child in the neighborhood. Caroline and Pat (Pearson) Bates tied for totals with three each. Caroline's two sons are school age and the daughter, five. Pat's three boys are ages two, four, and six, and cute as can be. (They stopped by my house last winter when Pat was visiting her father who is, incidentally, my minister.)

Joe (Estes) Sherrill with 2½ children came next. The first two are girls, so I'm rooting for a boy this time.

Annette (Gardner) Taylor brought her son and husband with her. Ritchie was, I believe, the first offspring of a '38 graduate. He is a grown young man of 11 now, the exact image of Annette's father. Annette and Joe are prospering in a new business, "Taylor Glass Company" of Birmingham.

Mary Jim (Peters) Taylor—the very same Mary Jim who kicked her way to soccer fame and who seems not a day older now—has two daughters, ages almost 9 and 10. It's incredible!

Bobbie (Ponder) Smith, poised and sophisticated (honest!) has an eight-year-old daughter and a four-year-old son.

My one and only is four, and should be at least triplets to absorb all the attention he gets.

In the midst of all our yakkity-yak, Rebecca (Gerdine) Webb suddenly looked at Ann Munck and said, "What shall we talk about?" "Well, at least you have a husband," said Ann. (I'm taking wagers that Ann will have one, too, by next reunion!) Ann has been teaching English and history at Wesleyan this year, and doing a fine job. This summer she has a Carnegie grant for further study.

In case I'm misleading anyone about reunion, there really was a program. After the Friday night banquet (at which we Rivoli '38'ers met two Conservatory '38'ers, Margaret (Dixon) Michaelson and Frances (Collins) Huthnance, Sara Jenkins delighted us with the trials and tribulations of an author. Saturday the class of '51 had its candle lighting ceremony, followed by a dynamic speaker from the business world, Miss Mary Campbell. Stressing the need to find interest in your work through giving your best to it regardless of who is watching, she said (and I probably don't quote exactly), "You should be unable to give less than your best because of you!"

As I left the college I came away convinced that Wesleyannes have given their best to life, and are reaping rich rewards.

1939

Dear Class:

We didn't sing "Oh well, its up with the banner bright, cheer the yellow and white—," but the reunioners of '39 did just about everything else! Principally, we fussed (and gossipped!) about those of you who didn't come, but we also took plenty of time to get details on everyone present. Snapshots were passed around as freely as gospel tracts, with "Stoop" (Sharp) Robinson hastening to explain after showing a group of three children, "I've had another one since this was made!"

Since 1939 it seems that all our members have been busy acquiring important-sounding jobs, husbands, and children. We heard that:

Virginia Anderson is manager of the Anderson Oil Co. in Macon.

Alpha (Boyd) Maddox lives in Columbus, and has a ten-year-old daughter.

Betty (Burch) Ridley has a pretty new home in Macon, and her husband is doctor for Wesleyan. They have a boy and a girl.

Anne Maria Domingos sees Wesleyannes often on her trips as Director of Children's Work, Board of Christian Education in the South Georgia Conference.

Addie Rie (McKellar) Baird has a new daughter, and a son. They live in Macon.

I saw Carolyn (Malone) Carpenter's three daughters and son before we left Atlanta for Wesleyan. She, Frances (Brown) Davis, Lillian (Carpenter) McNair, and "Stoop" tie for the title of '39's busiest mamas, as they have the most children. "Stoop" lives in Sylvania where her husband is the Ford dealer. She has a daughter named for Sally (Smith) Butt.

Mary Eva (Sowell) Harper's husband, a major in the Air Force, has just been recalled into the service. The Harpers live in Macon, and have two sons.

Frances (Staley) Hardin also lives in Sylvania and has a daughter.

Marguerite (Sallings) McLeod came up from Savannah for the reunion. Her husband is with the railroad, and they have a son 3½ years old.

As for me, I live in Columbia, S. C., where my husband is with the State Department of Education. We have a boy and a girl. Recently I saw Martha (McCaw) Almand, '32, her husband, who used to teach at Wesleyan, and their children, Carver and Joe, Jr. Carver is just finishing high school, and is a very attractive young lady, which makes me feel old when I remember how short a time ago she was our little mascot. I also see Miss Louise Rivers and her mother and aunt of Greenwood.

The reunioners gave us news of the following absent class members:

Jean (Bell) Greaves lives in Mobile where her husband practices law. They have two sons, Tim and Mac.

Frances (Brown) Davis is the only one of the class we know of with twins. Her two boys were six weeks old about commencement time. Frances and her husband, plus another son and daughter, live on a farm near Warrenton, Ga.

Frances (Campbell) Hughes has a son and a daughter. They live in Atlanta. Frances left in July to give concerts in Alaska and Canada.

Lillian (Carpenter) McNair has four daughters. She and her husband live in Atlanta where he is with the Coca-Cola Company.

Mimi (Cordes) Kelly's son was born in April. They live in Lithonia.

Barbara (Davis) Morgan's three children and her lovely home in Porterdale keep her very busy.

Ellis (Dunsford) Leavitt lives in Jacksonville and has a daughter.

Mary Leila (Gardner) Oliver has two children.

Dot (Guinn) Curry lives in Atlanta. She and her husband have three boys.

Annie Wheat (Jones) Smith's husband is with the Henry Roberts Realty Co. of Atlanta. They have two little daughters.

Marybeth (Jones) Leach's husband is head of the Industrial Engineering Dept. of the Consolidated Textile Co. They have two children, a boy and a girl.

Billie (King) Epp's husband is a doctor. They live in Tifton and have three children.

Christine (Lewis) Lowe and her husband are building a new home. They have a son and a daughter.

Jane (Martin) Groover's husband is with the army in Korea. Jane lives in Orlando with her children, Nancy and Tommy.

Elizabeth (Sanders) Kemp's husband is an administrator of the CAA and Elizabeth is active in her church choir. Four years ago they adopted a little son.

Caroline Smith is staff supervisor with the Southern Bell Telephone Co. in Atlanta.

Martha (Zachry) Thwaite's husband is president of the Fourth National Bank in Columbus. They have two boys and a girl.

The class of '39 meets again in five years. Those present this year plan to be back and promised to help get a larger crowd for the next reunion. Hope you absent gals will plan now to come and stay overnight if you can. In the meantime, send all the class notes you can, and let us see those snapshots in the magazine.

Louise (Wadsworth) Jeffcoat.

1940

Anne (Comolli) Warren's husband is an obstetrician in Lynchburg, Va., and Anne is secretary of the Junior League.

Carol (Jones) Carlisle and her husband both received their Ph.D. degrees this year at the University of North Carolina. Both are professors at the University of South Carolina. They have a six-year-old daughter.

Elizabeth (Lamkin) Johnson has a three-year-old son.

Eleanor (McCary) Tarleton was disappointed to miss her class reunion, but her husband was stationed at Key West until the latter part of June, and she of course wanted to be with him until he sailed.

Ida (Stephens) Williams writes of her regret at missing the reunion.

1941

Virginia (Clower) Corry is a psychiatrist on the staff of the Boston Psychopathic Hospital. Her husband is rector of the Church of Good Shepherd in Boston. Their children are Candace, 5, and Nell, 6 months.

Lillian (Mann) Jauquet's husband has been recalled into the Air Force, and is a major once more. He has been sent to the Pentagon, and they will live in Alexandria, Va. Lillian looks forward to meeting the members of the Washington, D. C. Wesleyan Club.

Louise (Scott) Dennett has a son, John Phillips, born May 29.

Eleanor (Shelton) Morrison writes that she had planned all the year to attend her class reunion, but had carefully planned to come June 5. She was terribly disappointed to find that she had planned on the wrong date!

Jan Stanton received the Ph.D. degree in psychology, with honors, from Ohio State University on June 8. Present to see this dream come true was Margaret (Zattau) Roan, A.B. '26.

Helen (White) Lindell and her husband are planning to build a new home in Jacksonville, Fla.

1942

Betty (Anderson) Farkas writes that she is continuing her work as a model and greatly enjoys working with her photographer husband. Their vacation trips take them all over the country. On their way down South they visited Ethelyn (Lindsey, '44), in Washington, Ga., and Virginia (Broome) Waterer in Atlanta, and Betty (King) Trowbridge in Avon Park, Fla.

Rosa (Comolli) Savage lives in Nebraska where her husband is stationed. They have one young son, Randy.

Marthelle (Morris) Harpe has two daughters, Elsie, 8, and Gloria, 5, and recently a little son.

1943

Harriet (Branan) Meier has a daughter, Kathleen Mary, born March 28.

Dorothea (Harden) Keen, her husband, two daughters and a son have recently moved into a new home in Dublin.

Buff (Kenner) Harper and her husband went to Paris on their wedding trip.

Martha (White) Cliett and her husband and two sons will move into their new home in Jacksonville in September.

Sympathy is extended to Katye (Whitehurst) Chamberlain in the death of her father April 21.

1944

Here is Elinor Smith's speech at "Senior Chapel" just before the close of the college year.

Senior Chapel gives us, the seniors of 1951, an opportunity to say goodbye and thank you to Wesleyan. Both are equally and totally impossible. Goodbye to Wesleyan, when we said how-do-you-do only yesterday? When only four short years ago we were the enthusiastic freshmen, hurtled into this strange, new world? When, during these four years, for many of us, Wesleyan has become home? Yet the four years are suddenly gone—and this time, when we "send to find for whom the bell tolls" — 113 times — we find it tolls for us. Time passes, they say, yet that is exactly what it can never do. For, although it is true that, when we graduate, for you we step into the past tense: "Jo Quillian was a fine girl, and Mary Chambers was a grand leader," for us, you will never change. Wherever we go, we take you with us, wearing your purple caps, strumming on your ukeles, and singing Hallelujah. Wherever we go, we take Wesleyan with us. We cannot say goodbye; only, perhaps, so long.

And thank you to Wesleyan? How do you thank someone, or a group of people, or an institution, for teaching you how to live the rest of your life? For teaching you how to think and to reason, for giving you a philosophy, a religion, all the benefits of a liberal education? — education in the original sense of the word: a leading-out into a wider world of greater understanding. How to thank professors for giving up their time, their knowledge, themselves? How to thank the dean for his endless patience with complaints, large and small, his untiring work for us, collectively and individually? How to thank the president for his ceaseless efforts to keep Wesleyan Wesleyan—for us? There is no way to say thank you, either.

Yet we have an opportunity to make a gift to Wesleyan. We have thought for a long time, and have finally decided the best way to help a school is to help the people in it. There is an endowment fund, contributed during the Second Century drive, entitled the Class of '51. We are adding $100 to this fund, to establish a scholarship to be known as the Golden Heart Scholarship. As long as the classes shall be so named, and after then, indiscriminately, it is to be awarded yearly to a member of the Golden Heart class, decided upon by the scholarship committee as deserving, on the basis of need, scholastic achievement, leadership, and devotion to Wesleyan. Our gift is a token, a gesture, in appreciation of all Wesleyan has given us—an attempt to say thank you, and goodbye.
